

ANIMAS PUBLIC SCHOOLS MISSION:

Together we will create a safe and active learning environment which promotes growth in knowledge, abilities, and citizenship.

ATTENDANCE

State attendance laws include very strict mandates about the attendance policy for students and responsibilities of parents. There is very little room for flexibility within the local school district. It is important that parents and students are aware of all components of the attendance policy and that good communication between home and school is maintained. Regular, uninterrupted instruction, classroom participation, and interaction with classmates are important to the educational process. For that reason and others, state law requires that all children of appropriate age and condition attend school regularly.

"New Mexico Children's Code" provides that a child who has more than ten unexcused absences per school semester is a "child in need of supervision" by the youth authorities. State laws require the schools to report violations of the compulsory attendance laws to the juvenile probation office. Violations of the compulsory attendance laws can subject parent to fines. Maintaining regular school attendance by all students is the joint responsibility of parents and educators.

ABSENCES

Students will be allowed 9 absences per semester for which class work can be made up for a grade. After 9 absences, subsequent absences will be unexcused and students will lose credit for that semester. Students present for at least four (4) or more periods within a school day will be counted present for the day. However, every third absence in any one particular class will be converted to an absence. Attendance will be taken each class period.

High School students will lose semester credit for all class periods once he/she has more than 9 absences at the end of the semester.

We no longer distinguish between excused and unexcused absences. Students and parents will be responsible for their absences.

Consequences

1. After the 4th absence, parents will receive a certified letter from the office stating that their child is allowed 9 days and is in danger of reaching that limit.
2. After the 7th absence, there will be a mandatory meeting or phone contact between parents and principal stating that their child is allowed two more absences.
3. On the 10th absence, high school students will lose credit for that semester in all classes. 7th and 8th grade students will be referred to the Student Assistance Team.
4. Any student who has missed more than the allotted days for a semester may not participate in the following:
  - a. Homecoming queen or king, prince or princess candidates.

- b. Prom queen or king candidates.
- c. Student Council/ National Honor Society.
- d. Any extracurricular activities that go beyond the academic curriculum: i.e. athletics, Honor Roll, field trips and academic awards.

EXTRACURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

No student shall be absent from school for school sponsored extra-curricular activities in excess of 15 days per semester, and no class may be missed in excess of fifteen times per semester. If a student has missed more than the 9 days allotted in the absentee policy, he/she may not attend any games as per 4D above. A student may not miss school on the day following a game unless he/she has a written note from a doctor. If he/she does miss a day after a game and does not have a written excuse from a doctor, he/she may not play in the next game. In the event it is the last game of the season, students will be placed in "In School Suspension" for one day if he/she misses a day following the last game.

Student(s) absent from school for all or part of the day will not be eligible to participate in extra-curricular activities that day. In the event the activity is on a Saturday or non-school day the student(s) must be in school the last full day prior to the activity. Any exception to this rule must be cleared through the principal's office one day prior to the activity.

TARDIES

A student is tardy if he or she is not in class when the first bell rings. A tardy is considered to be the first ten minutes after the bell rings. After ten minutes, the student is considered absent. Three tardies equals an absence.

EXTRACURRICULAR ELIGIBILITY

It is the policy of the Animas Public Schools to adhere to and comply with the policies, directives and procedures regarding participation in extracurricular activities as set forth in state statute and the New Mexico Activities Association regulations. For specific eligibility criteria, contact your building principal or athletic director.

CANCELLATION OF SCHOOL

Cancellation of school takes place only during circumstances such as extreme weather, equipment failure, or public crisis. The school board and administrators are aware of the hardship that can be caused by an abrupt cancellation. Therefore, school will not be canceled unless a significant safety risk has been created by unusual circumstances.

Emergency Information will be available for school closures or delays on the following:
Television Stations- KRQE, KOAT, KOB Radio Stations- KNFT 102.9 FM – or Safford at 99.1 FM or 97.7 FM in Lordsburg

Every practical means is used to notify parents of a cancellation, including radio, local television, and newspapers. In the unusual circumstance where school must be canceled during the school day, we will determine that all students have satisfactory transportation and supervision at their home before releasing them from school.

CLOSED CAMPUS POLICY

Animas Public Schools is a closed campus. Once students arrive on campus their vehicles are to be parked in the west parking lot in a designated parking space and not to be moved during the rest of the day. Students may not drive to the field house or Mid School gym after school for practices.

At lunch, high school students may walk to the local cafe providing they are back to class on time.

If the decision by the parents or guardian forbids corporal punishment, then in-school suspension is the only option.

COUNSELORS

One professional counselor is a full-time staff member at our school, and is available to assist students with questions regarding class scheduling, career choices, social problems, and crisis situations.

DANCES

Any dance, which is held in school facilities, must be approved by the administration. A sponsor is required (such as a club or other organization), who will agree to be responsible for preparations and clean up.

All dances will be chaperoned by teachers and must be scheduled to end by midnight. Students who wish to bring non-student guests must pre-register their guests, 24 hours prior to the event. Standards of behavior will be the same as those for any other school activity. Guests 21 years of age or older will not be allowed.

No one will be allowed to re-enter once they leave the building (unless special permission is granted from the sponsor or principal).

Adopted: October 9, 2007

Animas Public Schools

A sponsor should monitor all exit doors.

There will not be any school-sponsored dances off campus without clearance from the Principal first. Additional conditions will apply for off-campus dances.

DRESS CODE

Students generally conduct themselves in a manner similar to the way in which they dress and groom. Any type of dress or grooming which is disruptive will not be permitted.

Appropriateness of dress and all concerns dealing with the dress code will be left to the discretion of the building Principal. Shoes and covered midriffs are required. Students are not to wear mesh shirts, tank tops, tube tops, exposed underwear, headbands, PE clothes (except in PE), or other distractive clothing. Shirts need to be long enough so that the student can raise his/her hand without exposing skin at the midriff or lower back. Shorts must not be tight or revealing such as "Spandex". Sleeveless shirts are acceptable provided they have at least a 2.0 inch shoulder strap. Wearing of hats in the building is forbidden as are gross or obscene pictures and/or print on clothing. The growing of facial hair is discouraged. If, at the discretion of the building principal, a student's facial hair adversely affects his appearance and not present the student or the school in a positive manner, the student will be asked to shave. Other than normal earrings for girls, earrings for boys and other jewelry including earrings, loops, studs, etc., worn in or on body parts (noses, tongues, eyebrows, and other exposed surfaces) will not be permitted to be worn by either boys or girls. Pants must be worn at normal waist height. Pants will not be allowed to sag causing the crotch to be excessively low or sag below the fingertips when the arms are extended at the side. Students who violate the dress code can be sent home and charged with an absence. Be neat and attractive!

IMMUNIZATIONS

It is a violation of New Mexico's compulsory school immunization law (section 24-5-2, NMSA, 1978 Comp.) for a student to enroll who is not: 1) appropriately immunized; or 2) in the process of receiving needed immunizations; or 3) properly exempted to school immunizations. Transfer students are no longer allowed a six (6) week conditional enrollment period to provide proof of immunization; they are subject to the same limitations on enrollment as are all other students.

Adopted: October 9, 2007

Medical exemptions to school immunizations are only acceptable from licensed medical doctors or licensed doctors of osteopathy. The written statement from the duly licensed physician must state that the physical condition of the child is such that immunization would seriously endanger the life or health of the child. Medical exemptions must be kept in the child's school/health file.

Religious exemptions to school immunizations are only acceptable if the parent/guardian completes a CERTIFICATE OF RELIGIOUS/CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTION TO IMMUNIZATION and submits the notarized certificate to the Immunization Program for approval. The Immunization Program keeps original certificates and a copy with approval or disapproval is sent to the appropriate school.

NOTE: Exemptions, both medical and religious, are for a period not to exceed nine (9) months and do not extend beyond the school year in which they are submitted/approved.

Only through our combined efforts can we hope to reduce the number of New Mexico school students susceptible to vaccine preventable diseases. Thank you for your continued cooperation and support.

Lockers will be issued to each student enrolled in school. The school is not responsible for any valuables or books lost from lockers. School personnel have the authority to inspect any locker and its contents at any time. They also have the right to search a student when there is probable cause that the student may have an illegal substance or stolen property; if such is the case, it will be confiscated and the proper authorities will be notified. Unauthorized sharing of lockers will not be permitted. There will be no unauthorized switching of lockers. Students are not to keep money or other valuables in their lockers.

MAKE-UP WORK

Students are responsible for requesting make-up work immediately upon their return to school and will have the number of days absent to make up their work. These policies involve parents, community members, and school personnel in the process, and hold students accountable for their behavior. The goal of the Animas School District is to develop those traits known to promote life skills and life-long learning.

The effective education of our students requires a school environment in which students feel safe and secure. The Animas Board of Education is committed to maintain an environment conducive to learning in which students are safe from violence, threats, name-calling, intimidation, and unlawful harassment. This policy shall include circumstances related to racial harassment and racial discrimination and how each are related to student to student, student to school personnel, and school personnel to student incidents.

5. The terms of this policy shall also be applied to any new student validly seeking to be enrolled in the District.

How To Complain Constructively

When you are faced with a problem and wonder how best to approach school personnel about it, here are some guidelines:

Always keep in mind that school personnel want to work with you to solve problems. Only with parents and educators working together can the best be offered to children.

- Don't be afraid to call the school and ask about the problem. Some parents are hesitant to telephone. They think they will be labeled "complainers," that teachers and/or administrators will "take it out on their children" because they called, or that they may not be "educated" enough to talk with school people. If you telephone the school about the problem, often school personnel can explain the incident, and you will gain an understanding of what happened. By waiting and simmering inside about a problem, you will not give school personnel the opportunity to explain the situation or take action. In addition, there will be times when school personnel are unaware of the problem, and your call will help them learn about the situation and take action.
- Be aware that sometimes school personnel cannot tell you about the incident or the action taken unless it directly affects you or your child. School people cannot give out confidential information or information that may be embarrassing to the parties involved.
- Telephone or contact the person at the school who is responsible for the incident, grade, punishment, etc. It is always best, for example, that if you have a problem involving a teacher, you talk to that teacher. Don't go to a school administrator about the problem unless you have talked to the teacher and are not satisfied. If you are friends with other teachers and parents in a school, do not take your problems with your child's teacher to your friends. Don't place your friends in the middle. Deal directly with the person involved. Some parents find it difficult to talk to this person; they'd rather tell someone else. This usually results in a chain of conferences/discussions that take time away from solving the problem quickly.

- Try not to ask the school administration for something to be done, but be unwilling to have your name and any reference to the incident used with the party being complained about. This ties the hands of school personnel and hampers the process of finding the facts. Sometimes, you don't want your name mentioned. In such a case school administrators will have to be very general when inquiring about the incident. What they can often do, if you don't want your name divulged or don't want anything done, is to carefully watch in order to try to avoid future incidents and/or go on the offensive to solve the problem through positive interaction with the parties involved.
- Consider the source of your information. How did you learn about the problem? Sometimes problems you hear about are only partially true or not true at all.
- Be sure that you have all the facts. Have you heard all sides of the story? Viewpoints differ, and at times there are hidden reasons for a school action. Students who bring home complaints may be covering for a poor test grade, forgotten home assignments, or a discipline problem. Sometimes, when students describe situations that had nothing to do with them and involve other students, they don't know what actually happened.
- If you are angry, wait until you are not so upset before calling the school.
- Don't fear that if you talk to a teacher about a problem that the teacher will "take it out on your child." Any teacher who would do that does not belong in the classroom. Keep in mind that sometimes children may think they are being "picked upon" when teachers are trying hard to push them to achieve their potential, do their homework, study more carefully, etc.
- Don't walk into a classroom and try to talk about the problem with a teacher. Call the school and make an appointment with the teacher. Teachers cannot talk with you about your child when they are supervising students or teaching lessons. If it is necessary that you talk with a teacher immediately, talk to a school administrator about the situation. The administrator may be able to cover the class for the teacher if necessary.
- If your child is having a problem with another student while at school, it is best to check the situation with the teacher first. Try to find out why the problem is happening. You may want to contact the other child's parents to talk over the problem. Be aware that teachers cannot make children be friends with each other, but they will insist that children be polite to each other. Teachers, however, cannot see or know everything that goes on in the school halls, in the locker rooms, in the lavatories, and other school areas where students are not being directly supervised. Never come to school to confront the other student. Handle the situation through the adults.

- Do not bring up individual problems during group meetings. Individual problems should be handled in private conferences.
- Be assured that school personnel will listen carefully to your complaint. You should also listen carefully to what school people tell you. Try to understand the problem from the viewpoint of the school. Attending most schools are, for example, students with parents who have many different value systems; students from a variety of cultures and religious beliefs; students who may not have appropriate parental guidance or attention, etc.
- Do not expect a school administrator or teacher to disagree with you. The problem may be one that is troubling to school personnel, and they may be glad to have your support in dealing with the situation. Don't be surprised, if you come to a teacher or a school administrator with a complaint or a constructive idea, and they agree with you and ask for your suggestions.

The best advice is to share your feelings with school personnel so that you can work together.

ANIMAS PUBLIC SCHOOL DISTRICT COMPUTER AND INTERNET ACCEPTABLE USE AGREEMENT

Please read this document carefully before signing.

Internet access is now available to students and teachers in the Animas Public School District. We are very pleased to bring this access to APS and believe the Internet offers vast, diverse and unique resources to both students and staff. In defining the Internet's resources as an extension of the Library, the American Library Association has both a Library Bill of Rights and a Media Center Bill of Rights that discourage censorship and promote collections of varied views. Our goal in providing this service to teachers and students is to promote educational excellence in schools by facilitating resource sharing, innovation and communication.

The Internet is an electronic highway connecting thousands of computers all over the world and millions of individual subscribers. Students and staff have access to:

1. Electronic mail communication with people all over the world.
2. Information and news from NASA as well as the opportunity to correspond with the scientists at NASA and other research institutions.
3. Public domain software and shareware of all types.
4. Discussion groups on a plethora of topics ranging from Chinese culture to the environment to music to politics.
5. Access to many University Library Catalogs, the Library of Congress and ERIC.

With access to computers and people all over the world also comes the availability of material that may not be considered to be of educational value in the context of the school setting. On a global network it is impossible to control all materials and an industrious user may discover controversial information. We (APS) firmly believe that the valuable information and interaction available on this worldwide network far outweighs the possibility that users may procure material that is not consistent with the educational goals of the district.

Internet access is coordinated through a complex association of government agencies, and regional and state networks. In addition, the smooth operation of the network relies upon the proper conduct of the end users who must adhere to strict guidelines. These guidelines are provided here so that users are aware of the responsibilities you are about to acquire. In general, this requires efficient, ethical and legal utilization of the network resources. If a APS user violates any of these provisions, his or her access will be terminated. The signature(s) at the end of this document indicates the party (parties) who signed has (have) read the terms and conditions carefully and understand(s) their significance.

Computer and Internet Terms and Conditions

1. Acceptable Use - The purpose of NSFNET (National Science Foundation Network) which is the backbone network to the Internet, is to support research and education in and among academic institutions in the U.S. by providing access to unique resources and the opportunity for collaborative work. The use of school computers must support education and research and be consistent with the educational objectives of APS. Use of other organization's network or computing resources must comply with the rules appropriate for that network. Transmission of any material in violation of any U.S. or state regulation is prohibited. This includes, but is not limited to: copyrighted material, threatening or obscene material, or material protected by trade secret. Use of commercial activities is generally not acceptable.
2. Network Etiquette - Users are expected to abide by the generally accepted rules of network etiquette. These include (but are not limited to) the following:
  - a. Be polite. Do not get abusive in your message to others.
  - b. Use appropriate language. Do not swear, use vulgarities or any other inappropriate language. Illegal activities are strictly forbidden.
  - c. Do not reveal your personal address or phone numbers of students or colleagues.
  - d. Note that electronic mail (e-mail) is not guaranteed to be private. People who operate the system do have access to all mail. Messages relating to or in support of illegal activities may be reported to the authorities.
  - e. Do not use the network in such a way that you would disrupt the use of the network by other users.
  - f. All communications and information accessible via the network should be assumed to be private property.
  - g. Hate mail, harassment, discriminatory remarks and other antisocial behaviors are prohibited on the network. Therefore, any messages should not contain profanity, obscene comments, sexually explicit material, expressions of bigotry or hate.
  - h. Subscriptions to Listservs must be reported to a system administrator. Prior approval for Listservs is required for students.
  - i. Mail Listservs must be monitored daily and deleted from the personal mail directory to avoid excessive use of file server hard-disk space.

- j. From time to time, Animas Public School District system administrators will make determinations on whether specific uses of the network are consistent with the acceptable use practice.
3. Use of any information obtained via the Internet is at your own risk. APS specifically denies any responsibility for the accuracy or quality of information obtained through its services.
  4. Security - Security on any computer system is a high priority, especially when the system involves many users. If you feel you can identify a security problem on the Internet, you must notify a system administrator. Do not demonstrate the problem to other users. Users shall not intentionally seek information on, obtain copies of, or modify files, other data, or passwords belonging to other users, or misrepresent other users on the network. Attempts to gain unauthorized access to system programs or computer equipment will result in cancellation of user privileges. Downloading of information onto the hard drive is prohibited. Any user identified as a security risk or having a history of problems with other computer systems may be denied access to school computers.
  5. Vandalism - Vandalism will result in cancellation of privileges. Vandalism is defined as any malicious attempt to harm, modify, or destroy computer hardware, data of another user, Internet, or any of the other networks that are connected to the NSFNET Internet backbone. This includes, but is not limited to, the uploading or creation of computer viruses.
  6. Inappropriate Use - The system administrators will deem what is inappropriate use and their decision is final. Also, the system administrators may close an e-mail account at any time. The administration, faculty, and staff of APS may request the system administrator deny, revoke, or suspend computer use.
